Curriculum development

Current Responsibilities:

In my current role, I teach in Year 5 and Year 6, which allows me to maintain my skills as a practitioner and I know what can be achieved through a cross-curricular, creative, hands-on approach to teaching science in both the indoor and outdoor classroom. As a member of the leadership team of my school – a role that is varied and exciting – I continue to develop my own practice and to understand how teaching and learning of all subjects develops across the whole school.

Leadership Experience:

Improved teaching and learning has been achieved through delivery of CPD, coaching and mentoring of both individuals and groups of teachers. I have worked alongside Science Leaders to improve science provision, children's enjoyment of science lessons and to ultimately enhance the attainment of children in science in their schools. I have shared resources, delivered CPD, helped staff to develop their planning of science lessons and their ability to robustly assess attainment of children in science, including end of Key Stage judgements.
